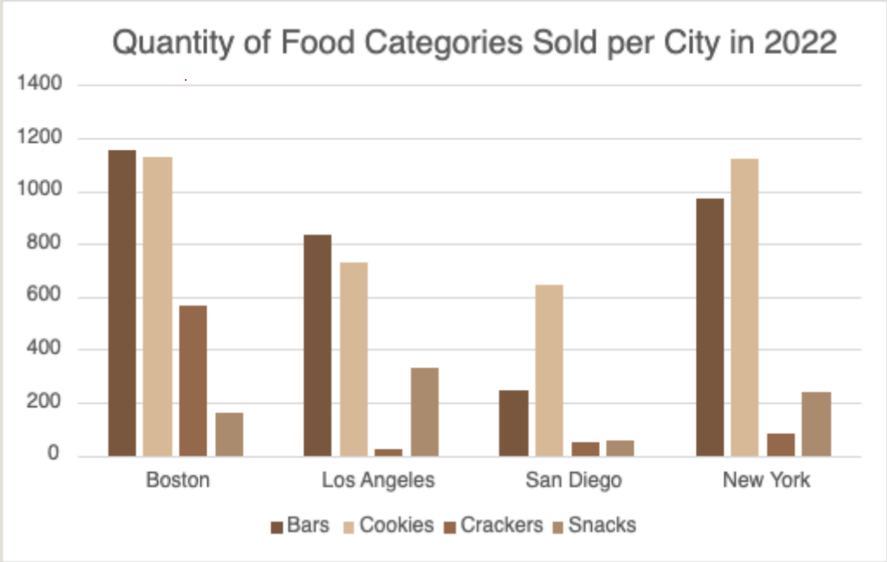
Who We Are

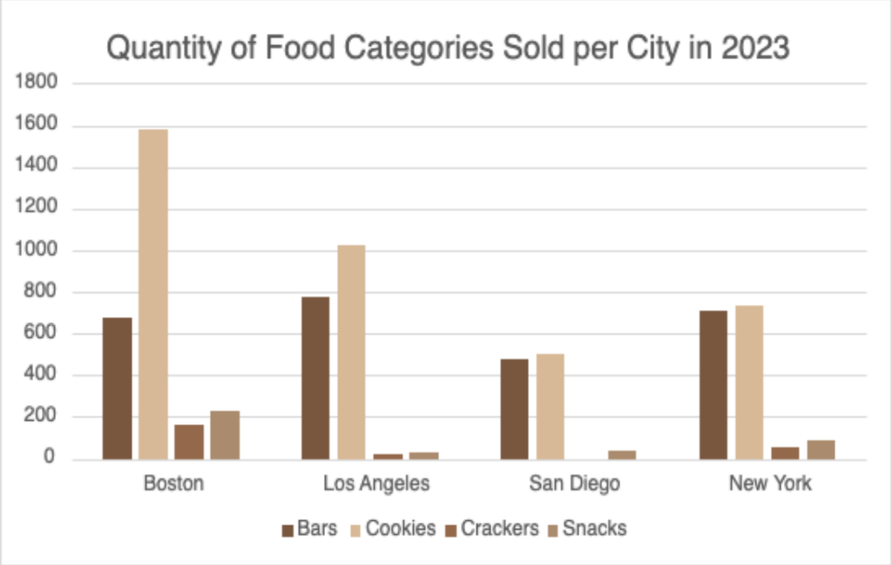
We are three management students studying at Mcgill. This website created by us shows a variety of graphs containing data of the different food consumptions from 4 locations in the USA such as Boston, Los Angeles, San Diego, and New York from the years 2022 & 2023. In which we discuss the quantity demanded by location and highest-lowest sales by product.

Location	Category	Product per Category	Analysis 1	Analysis 2
Boston	Snacks	Potato Chips, Pretzles	Graph on quantity of food sold per city in 2022	Graph on the total sales of each of the food catgeories in 2022
Los Angeles	Cookies	Arrowroot, Chocolate Chip, Oatmeal Raisin	Graph on quantity of food sold per city in 2023	Graph on the total sales of each of the food catgeories in 2023
San Diego	Bars	Banana, Bran, Carrot	None	Graph on total sales of products by category in 2022
New York	Crackers	Whole Wheat	None	Graph on total sales of products by category in 2023

Analysis 1: Consumption Trends by Location

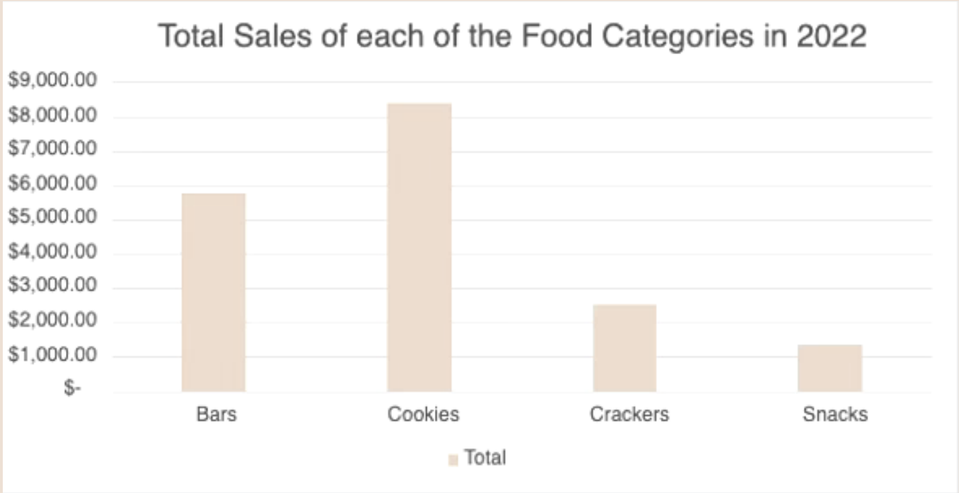


The graph shows that bars have the most sales in Boston and Los Angeles and cookies have the most sales in San Diego and New York. The lowest sales are snacks in Boston and New York and crackers in Los Angeles and San Diego. This shows that an increase in production for bars and cookies is recommended for 2023.

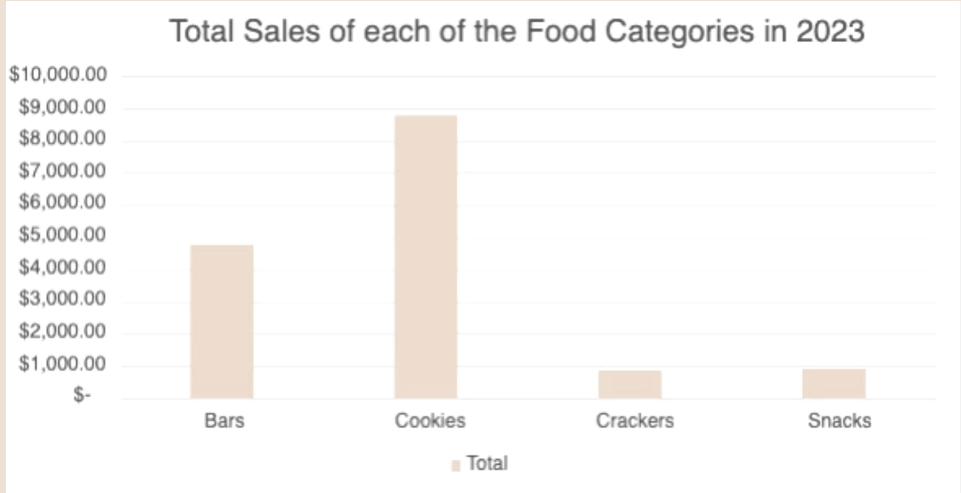


There has been a decrease in the purchase of goods from the year 2022. The least goods wanted are crackers, with San Diego having zero sales. In comparison to last year, most sales across each four cities are cookies. Least sales across each four cities are crackers.

Analysis 2: Highest-Lowest Sales by Category



As we observe this graph we conclude that cookies have had the most sales in 2022 which is 8 395,78$. The lowest sales in 2022 is snacks which is 1 342.02$. The total sales for 2022 was 17 988.66$



In the next year, we could see that both the total sales of bars and cookies have increased while the total sales of crackers and snacks have reduced. Total sales in cookies still remains as the highest sales out of all of the food categories with 8816.63$. This year crackers have the lowest total sales which is 837.60$. The total sales for 2023 was 15 336.92$
